ALBERTA WILL HARVEST BEST CROP IN WEST

Alberta is the only one of the three provinces that has no commercial harvesting crop conditions, and although the crop in Saskatchewan and Manitoba will suffer somewhat, the results will be a record of best weather in early September, a general air of optimism prevails throughout, according to A. B. Mitchell, assistant general manager of the Canada Life Assurance Co., Toronto. Mr. Mitchell is en an inspection trip through the west, and during his tour of the Dominion he was able to secure a first-hand knowledge of crop conditions and general business conditions.

In speaking of conditions generally, Mr. Mitchell said that an air of optimism prevails throughout the west, and that the weather was the most favorable in the Dominion he was able to secure a first-hand knowledge of crop conditions and general business conditions.

In speaking of conditions in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, Mr. Mitchell said: "While the total crop yield in Saskatchewan was not so good as in the west, the weather was the most favorable in the Dominion he was able to secure a first-hand knowledge of crop conditions and general business conditions."

Conditions are also unfavorable in some parts of Manitoba. The weather, although good conditions for the southwest portion of the province are good, but none of the grain, even in these districts, will grade poorly. There is no doubt that these two provinces have suffered more from the weather than any other district, and the weather of the last few weeks."

On the other hand, Alberta crops are in an ideal condition in spite of the conditions of the Saskatchewan and Manitoba crops, the three provinces this year.

Will harvest what is expected to be the second largest crop in the history of Canada.

General business conditions in Eastern Canada were also described by Mr. Mitchell as being good. Quebec, through an influx of industries from the United States, is enjoying the most prosperous year in its history. The weather in Ontario could be termed as "ideal."

"There is no apparent lack of work in Ontario, and increased development of mineral mines in Eastern Ontario is also being reported throughout the province."

Eastern Canadians are interested in the oil development in Southern Alberta, they are not very well acquainted with true conditions in the oil fields, the insurance man said. He believed that more information of a reliable nature should be sent to the east regularly, as easterners as a whole were extremely interested in Alberta oil fields.

CRAIGMILE NEWS.

The electric light service came into operation on Saturday last, and is greatly appreciated. Even though it was cold and snowing slightly all day the men kept at work so as to get the light on that evening.

A local accident took place in the district on Saturday, Mr. Win. Nixon, son of his arm broken when he was knocked down off the tip of his head by a car. Mrs. James Mowat dropped off the tip of her left thumb with a hand, when she was carrying a basket of fruit. She was driving home on Highway Avenue in the late afternoon when she was struck by a car.

On Monday evening last, George W. DeLong met with a most unfortunate accident when he was starting a car on Main Street. He went to make an adjustment on the accelerator, when a blade of the fan flew off and cut his right hand, which was resting on the fan.

Mr. A. W. White was operated on in the Holy Cross Hospital, Calgary, on Thursday last week, for a hernia of the third finger of his left hand.

The accident happened in the weather last Friday afternoon when the wind was blowing from the west. The accident happened in the weather last Friday afternoon when the wind was blowing from the west.

We are pleased to report that Mr. B. A. Cavanaugh, who was hurt in a car accident, is now able to be about his home.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Infantile paralysis is a germ disease. It occurs most often, in the summer months, and mostly among the children, especially those under five years of age. The following advice will help your children escape this dread disease.

Infantile paralysis is its beginning resembles many other contagious diseases. A child that has been perfectly well becomes restless and feverish. He is irritable and does not want to be moved. There may be vomiting or diarrhea, but otherwise the child is all right.

Do not wait for the paralysis. If the child appears to have fever, vomit, or diarrhea, call a doctor at once. The child is feverish. Do not let him lie in bed and call a doctor.

Keep your children away from crowds, the movies, parties, dances, and other places where they are likely to be crowded together.

Keep your children as clean as you can. The play of soap and water, bath, and rub with disinfectant. Keep them clean and healthy.

Keep your children clean. Bath them often. Make them wash their hands and face before eating. Do not let them use public toilet towels.

There was produced a working model of the new Pacific Hotel and the fair-weather surroundings. Here were seen the Canadian Pacific and the Bow River Valley in British Columbia. The beautiful coast of the Pacific Ocean was shown in the heart of the mountains.

Imported by U.S. Really British

An unusual angle on Canada's imports from the United States was explained by Hon. James Macdonald, minister of trade and commerce, speaking at the annual banquet of the Bread and Cake Bakers' Association of Canada held at Ottawa last night.

Mr. Macdonald pointed out that goods valued at many millions, imported as imports from the United States, were really British imports. The most striking example of this was the $25,000,000 worth of rubber for automobile tires which is shipped to Canada through the United States.

Keep your children as clean as you can. The play of soap and water, bath, and rub with disinfectant. Keep them clean and healthy.

Ravages Of Rust

During the Session of 1924, before the Select Standing Committee on Agriculture and Colonization, the Director of the Botanical Division of the Experimental Farms Branch in the Federal Department of Agriculture gave an address in the course of which he revealed something of the losses annually sustained by the

of that ruin. It is astounding to read that even in 1922, which gave us the highest wheat crop in the history of Canada, nevertheless an amount of $50,000,000 was lost in the Red River Valley alone. Nor is it reassuring to find that when rust is really severe, as it was in 1916, the crop may be diminished by an amount of wheat which at current values would then have been worth $150,000,000. This is a sum of money equal to three times that which the country derives annually from its fisheries, and equal to the value of the entire mineral production of Canada in 1922.

The amount of wasted effort represented by these staggering figures is such that, even if for argument's sake

They were eliminated by one half, it would still remain an intolerableonus upon our wheat-growers, which they ought not to be permitted to carry indefinitely if there is any reasonable hope that well-directed scientific effort might free them from it. Fortunately there are now a number of encouraging indications that rust may be made to give way before investigation.

Stimulated by such considerations as these and encouraged by the ever-increasing weight of scientific opinion

Government opinion laid before it, the Department took, in 1924, the exceedingly important step of providing for the foundation of a research institute, the chief business of which is to investigate grain rust and its control. The report of the Division of Entomology for 1925 states that "the new Dominion Rust Research Laboratory at Winnipeg is in full working order and the new premises are now being occupied. The equipment in regard to laboratory buildings, as well as the provision of leaves little more to be desired; and every facility has been afforded us by the Department for research along the line of grain rust control."

Prince Of Wales Evidently Inherits Ability From King George

The greatest salesman in the world is His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. He has the biggest line of goods that any human being ever tried to sell, and he does his job well. It is not every one who could sell an empire, metaphorically speaking to the rest of the world, but this what the Prince of Wales has done. Up and down and round about the world he has gone, charming innumerable peoples, red, white, yellow and black, bringing to them a vision of the British Empire as it really is: generous, wise

There are few "knights of the shyness" who could not gain some points in their relationship from this position. The Knight of the New It appears that the Prince's family is a salesman "runs in the blood." A dispatch from Baltimore published in the Globe states that His Majesty George has been acting as flower salesman at a charity sale and has been doing a "roaring business." But the significant thing is that the King is a salesman so dazzled those "Nolan" Scotsmen that many of them refused to take their change. Salesmanship here reaches its zenith. With quire a certain measure of popularity by manufacturing interest and doing helpful things for others and performing service to the community.

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

A few years ago observers "saw" the large metropolitan newspapers with their state-wide and, in some cases, national circulation driving the rural press out of business. Some went so far as to predict a time near at hand when only very large communities could financially support even one paper.

These groundless prophesies were inspired by consolidations and absorptions of weekly and small daily newspapers then taking place and still continuing in lesser numbers. But one could have predicted as easily the passing of the metropolitan press, for wholesale consolidations and suspensions were taking place among city papers during the same period.

The truth is the country found itself in the position of having an excess of newspapers and some had to drop out of the long and arduous struggle for bare existence. The situation point had been passed long ago, and the retreat to the point of safety is now nearing consummation.

What has been the result? Better, larger and more reliable newspapers are one result. And newspapers as a whole, from the smallest weekly to the largest daily, were never more prosperous.

Men everywhere are coming more and more to understand and appreciate the part the rural press is taking in the affairs of the nation. And its usefulness has increased with its prosperity and the public's confidence in it.

General Motors News

Cadillac and LaSalle cars continue to draw new orders for beauty of design and motor schemes in European art centers. Following reports of recent victories at Berlin and Vienna, more of further hours has just been received. At the Concours d'Elegance held in Paris under auspices of the new paper "L'Auto," the first prize have been won by LaSalle cars. In similar contest at Baden Baden, the celebrated continental watering place, a Cadillac and a LaSalle in their respective classes were awarded first prize for beauty and the Cadillac incidentally won a prize for the best design.

In the Concours d'Elegance in Paris, in the second open sport model class, first position was given to a LaSalle car. The car embodies the sport motif built in its careful, finished and its striking details of equipment. The cool laque are "bullet nose" in design, matching the headlight, and are attached to a nickel oval hood in a design line effect. The big end pieces windshield fliers forward over the hood, accentuating the motions of body lines. The convertible design is a reasonable sum, and a golf compartment which opens on the right.

The other first prize at the Paris Concours was won by the LaSalle was in the motor car class. The car is particularly distinctive for its grace and saloon. The body is a masterpiece of design, a shielded hood nose a youthful, dashing roadster, little more than a wing all of its design is made a striking resemblance. The front view of the car is marked by an effect of unusual stability with great power. The radiator is a masterpiece of the modern car type. It has extreme height and slanting. It is mounted deep below the top of the hood, and the vertical radiator and streamer cap and hood. It is striking in its Derby red color, and as to design to the other exterior parts of the car, the hood is fitted to the rear deck, and top material of dark colored cloth. The back seat is a masterpiece of design, and the roof is far weather, and to permit their ventilation with occupants of the rumble seat.
